Regrade Policy

- If there is a simple counting error, bring it to Professor Spearot.
- If you disagree with how a question was graded, there is one process to have your grade reevaluated:
 - Read the answer key, where the breakdown of points is clearly labeled.
 - If you still disagree, write a clearly stated rebuttal of the grade you received.
 - Give the statement, along with your exam, to the TAs.
 - The TAs will discuss the grade, and whether they believe more points should be given.
 - The TAs report to me, I will make the final decision, and then report back to you.
- This process is here for a reason. Neither I or the TAs will respond to aggressive regrade requests that don't follow this process.
