For this status report you should turn in a no more than 2 page, 1.5 spaced document that states 1) your hypothesis, 2) your proposed background resources, and 3) your proposed data collection methods and 4) any materials you may give to a subject (survey, etc.). It's that simple. Be as explicit about the data collection methods, such as how you will recruit participants, what will you ask them (if using a questionnaire), etc.

The goal of this document is that anyone in the class could read it and go out and do your research. For example, if you are doing a survey you should have all the questions, you should know who you will ask and why, etc. Explain everything as clearly as possible.
