Overview and requirements: This reading group will examine contemporary processes of environmental and resource governance. All participants will be responsible for leading one group discussion and critique of the readings. Through this process, the group will explore common and emergent themes in distinct cases of resource governance and will work to situate each study in the broader theory and praxis of political ecology.

January 13 – Introduction to Environmental Governance

January 20 – Access and Scarcity

January 27 – Rescaling Governance

February 3 - Role of the State
February 10 – CBNRM

February 17 – Corporate Social Responsibility

February 24 – NGO's and Social Movements

March 3 – Case Studies: Water Governance

Market Governance and Green Capitalism

March 10 – Case Studies: Mining Governance