TAT INTIMACY MOTIVATION SCORING INSTRUCTIONS:

For each story:

If neither prime test applies, give the story zero points and proceed to the next story.

If either or both prime tests apply, give the story one point for each (if only one applies, give one point, if both apply, give two points), and proceed to score the subcategories:

Score each of the subcategories one point or zero (if present, one point, if not, zero).

The same sentence can be scored on more than one subcategory, but each subcategory can be scored only one time per story.

Then, for each story, sum all the points for that story (possible points for each story = 10).

Score all the stories, and sum the total points. That is the intimacy motivation score for the assessee.

(Mean is approximately 6.0 for either sex, depending upon sample.)